

The 22nd Institute on Catholic Education

Co-Sponsored by the Warner School of Education at the University of Rochester and St. John Fisher College

Make Me a Channel of Your Peace: Pathways to Prevent Bullying July 7-8, 2011 | Rochester, New York

Get Inspired During the Institute Days

This one-of-a-kind event brings together educators from across the state to face the challenges of bullying in and out of the classroom. How can we make all children feel safe in a learning environment?

The Annual Institute Offers the Following Opportunities:

- Understand how prevention strategies to bullying can be integrated into classroom practices to improve student behavior and learning
- Hear today's leading educational authors and experts give their perspectives on the latest learning trends and research
- Build leadership capacities and capabilities in moving your school's role in anti-bullying efforts
- Understand diversity in a safe and happy school setting
- Network with colleagues and share what's new, what works, and what doesn't work
- Experience a wide range of activities and learning opportunities, session formats, and topics

Your Conference Registration Includes the Following:

- Admission to keynote speakers Marc Brackett, PhD, Yale University and Brother Raymond Vercrusse, EdD, Christian Brothers North America
- Additional breakout sessions that include: Sister Mary Angela Shaughnessy, SCN, JD, PhD, St. Catherine College; Ed Brockenbrough, PhD, Warner School of Education; Dena Swanson, PhD, Warner School of Education; and Pamela Scott Weaver, National Center for Missing and Exploited Children/New York Branch
- Continental breakfast and lunch
- Materials packet from Missing and Exploited Children
- The opportunity for reflection, prayer, networking, and liturgy
- A set of classroom bullying posters and workbook for each school represented
