Rochester Baseball

University of Rochester Baseball program has become a well respected program within the region as well as the country. This winter camp will allow you to get an edge for the spring season.

Goergen Athletic Center Field house

The field house is an all turf facility big enough to allow for a full infield. With built in base plugs and portable mounds, it fills the needs for a top of the line indoor baseball training facility. Drop down hitting tunnel and portable pitching mounds add to the versatility. Hitters will have ability to take soft-toss or hit off a tee to the side during games and pitchers will have a bull-pen to get loose before going in.

The full infield allows players to work on all phases of the game including ground balls, double plays and base running. Great for teams looking to get a feel for game speed before the spring season!

*Basketball courts will be available before games to run, stretch and throw as a team.
