The Phoenician world spanned the entire Mediterranean in the first millennium B.C.E., reaching the conceptual edge of the world beyond the Pillars of Hercules, clashing with Greek, Roman and indigenous Mediterranean cultures. This course will approach the visual arts and archaeological presence of Phoenician and subsequent Carthaginian cultures in the first millennium B.C.E., including the dramatic showdown between Hannibal and Rome.