

Installing UR_Connected wireless to a Macintosh

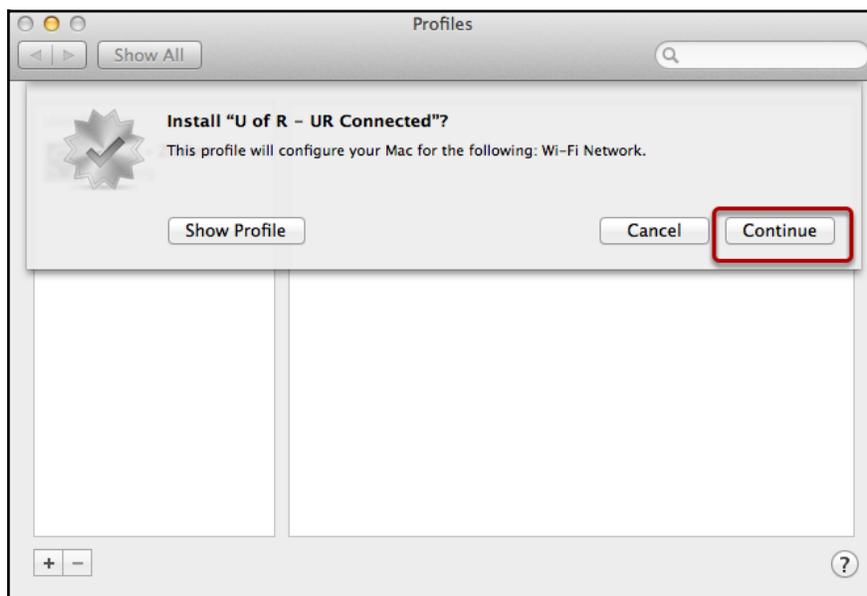

Automatic Installation (via Profile)

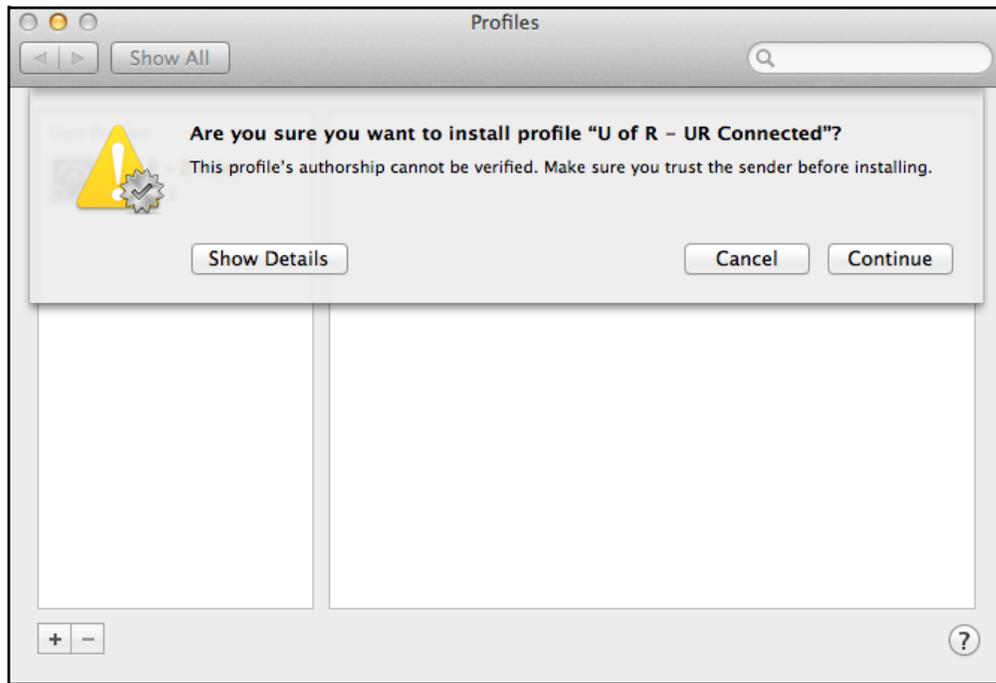

First, ensure that the Macintosh has network connectivity. This may mean temporarily joining the Guest network, or using the wired network. Open a web browser on the computer, and go to <http://bit.ly/URConnected>.

Safari will download the MobileConfiguration file, if "Open Safe files is turned on", system preferences will open and display the Profile information.

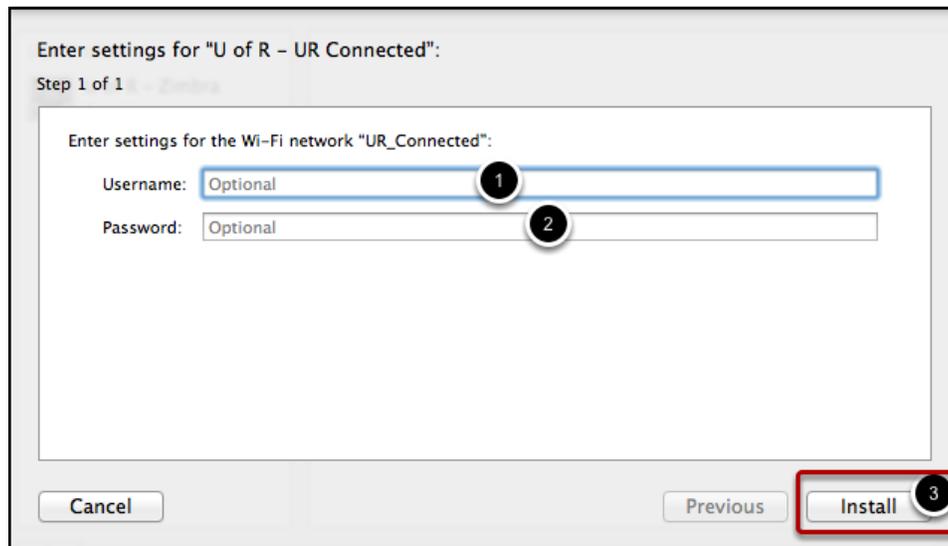

If System Preferences does not open, go to your downloads folder, and double click on the signed.UOR-urconnected.mobileconfig file.

The Profile will display some details about the changes that it will make. In this case, it will configure the iDevice to work with the UR_Connected Wireless network. If you click on Show Profile, it will display every change that it will make on the Computer. To start installing the profile, click on "Continue".

Click on Continue to Confirm that you wish to install the profile.

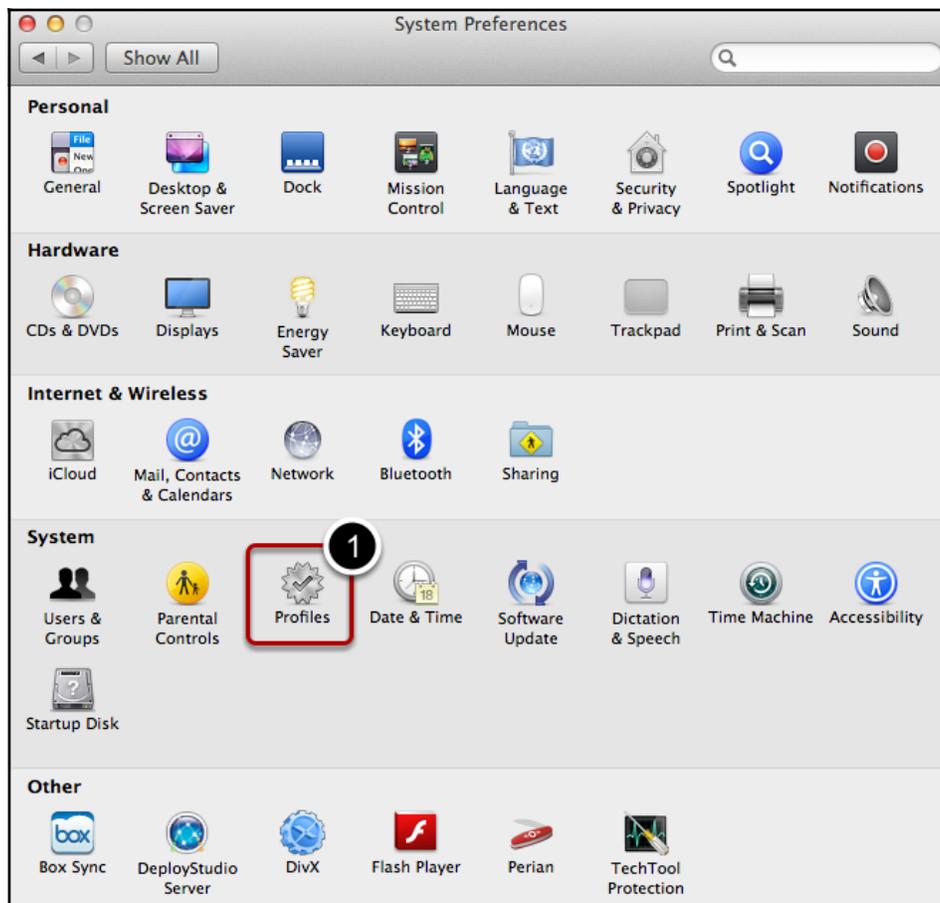

Step 1 - Enter your Active Directory Username. If you are uncertain, you can go to the MyIdentity website, and look up your Active Directory username. In many cases, your ActiveDirectory username will be the same as your Net ID Username.

Step 2 - Enter your ActiveDirectory Password. Once again, you can reset the password at the MyIdentity website, and in most cases it will be the same as your Net ID Password.

A prompt for the Configuration Profile Tool may appear. If it does appear, enter your computer's Administrator account and password to continue.

Finding Existing Profiles

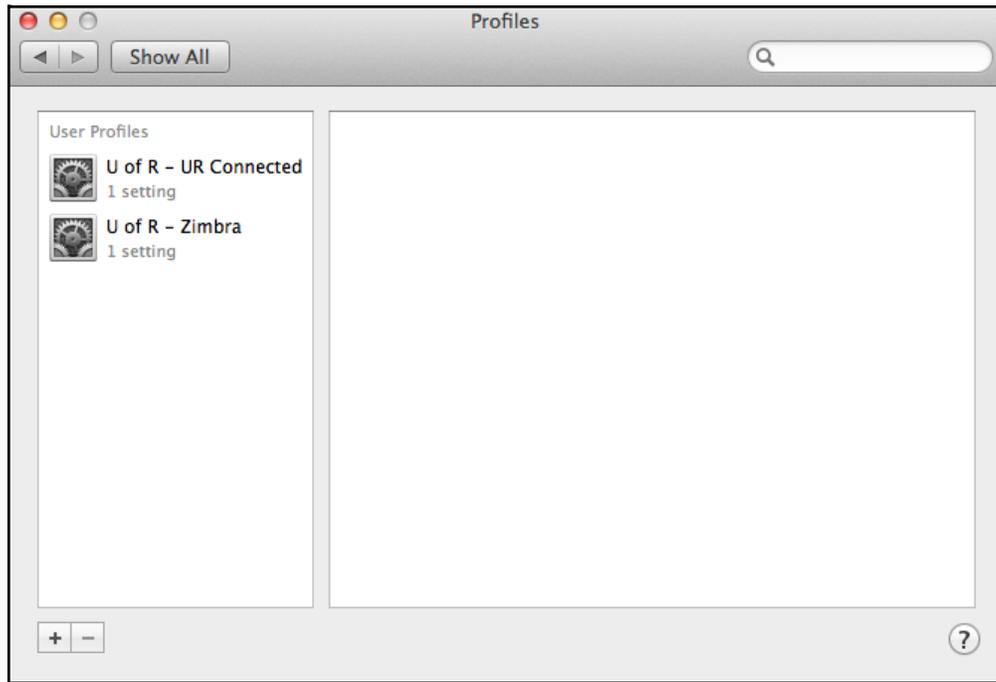

To find what Profiles are on your Macintosh.

Open the System Preferences:

- Click on Profiles

Removing a Profile

To Remove a Profile, open the Profile in the System Preferences, Click on the profile, and then click on Dash icon to Remove.

This will remove all data associated with the profile.

Authors and Revisions

Authors

- Benjamin Schollnick

Revisions

- Initial Revision (7/25/2013)
-