Thousands of alumni, parents, and friends celebrated Meliora Weekend with a full roster of presentations, activities, reunions, events, and celebrations. See more photos and social media coverage at Rochester.edu/newscenter/meliora-weekend-2015.

Celebrating Meliora Weekend

Staff of the newly opened Golisano Children’s Hospital hosted tours for alumni, family, and other guests.

Stephen Uebbing, a faculty member at the Warner School and director of the University’s project with East High School, was a panelist for the Presidential Symposium focused on “The Crisis in K–12 Education.” Moderated by President and CEO Joel Seligman, the panel also included MaryEllen Elia, commissioner of the New York State Education Department; Wade Norwood ’85, an at-large member of the New York State Board of Regents; Kara Finkin, an associate professor of education leadership at Warner; and Eric Hanushek, the Paul and Jean Hanna Senior Fellow at Stanford University’s Hoover Institution.

Members of the Class of 1965 pose for a class photo after receiving University medallions to mark their 50th Reunion.

“Creativity is a team sport,” keynote speaker Walter Isaacson told a full house at Kodak Hall. “Collaboration is a contact sport. You need to be around other people.”

Neil Varon conducts at the Eastman Philharmonia and Eastman School Symphony Orchestra Showcase Concert.