The University of Rochester’s annual day of community service provides a way for incoming students to bond with each other and with the Rochester community. Celebrating Wilson Day’s 25th anniversary, almost 1,500 students, staff, faculty, alumni, and community members engaged in off-campus volunteer work at 82 community organizations ranging over 92 work sites. Wilson Day is coordinated by the Rochester Center for Community Leadership, a unit in the College’s Office of the Dean of Students. The center challenges students to become engaged citizens and leaders capable of creating positive social change in their communities.
