Internal Data

Internal data is information that is necessary for:
- people to perform their work at the University
- is properly available to others at the University
- is not appropriate to be known by the general public

Unsure of the Data Classification?

- Try asking, "What consequences will the University incur if the data in question is exposed?"

- ...if significant legal expenses or lawsuits, the data is probably legally restricted.

- ...if embarrassment, perhaps requiring public apology, then the data is probably confidential.

- ...if regret, then the data is probably internal.

- ...if pride, then the data is probably public!

Do you have ideas that should be shared as security tips of the week? If so, please send them to UnivIT_SP@ur.rochester.edu

For more information, please visit: www.rochester.edu/it/security