

Phelps COLLOQUIUM

2015–2016

Benoit

Thursday, October 1, 2015

4:00–5:30 p.m.

The Meliora Grand Ballroom, Frederick Douglass Building, River Campus
“New Approaches for Bone Regeneration”

Danielle Benoit, Associate Professor of Biomedical Engineering, Chemical Engineering, and in the Center for Musculoskeletal Research and the Stem Cell and Regenerative Medicine Institute, Hajim School of Engineering and Applied Sciences and School of Medicine and Dentistry

Steingröver

Thursday, November 5, 2015

4:00–5:30 p.m.

The Meliora Grand Ballroom, Frederick Douglass Building, River Campus
“The Fall of the Berlin Wall on Film Twenty-five Years Later”

Reinhild Steingröver, Chair of Humanities Department and Professor of German, Eastman School of Music

Johnson

Thursday, December 10, 2015

4:00–5:30 p.m.

The Meliora Grand Ballroom, Frederick Douglass Building, River Campus
“Ghost Ads and the Science of Online Advertising”

Garrett Johnson, Assistant Professor of Marketing, Simon Business School

Kessler

Thursday, January 7, 2016

4:00–5:30 p.m.

Evarts Lounge, Helen Wood Hall, School of Nursing
“A Tale of Two Greenhouse Gases in the Oceans”

John D. Kessler, Associate Professor of Earth and Environmental Sciences, School of Arts & Sciences

Esse

Thursday, February 11, 2016

4:00–5:30 p.m.

Max of Eastman Place
“The Opera Singer as Muse and Creator: Pauline Vardot and Gounod’s Sapho”

Melina Esse, Associate Professor of Musicology, Eastman School of Music

Schallek

Thursday, March 31, 2016

4:00–5:30 p.m.

The Meliora Grand Ballroom, Frederick Douglass Building, River Campus
“Seeing Stars: How Astronomy has Enabled
New Visions of the Living Eye”

Jesse Schallek, Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology, of Neurobiology and Anatomy, and in the Center for Visual Science, School of Medicine and Dentistry