

Fields, Factories, and Workshops: Green Economic Development on the Smaller-Metro Scale

Catherine Tumber

November 1, 2012 at 5:30 pm
*Hawkins-Carlson Room
Rush Rhees Library
University of Rochester*

The talk is free and open to the public.
Parking passes may be purchased at the information booth on Wilson Ave.

Catherine Tumber is the author of Small, Gritty, and Green: The Promise of America's Smaller Industrial Cities in a Low-Carbon World (MIT Press, 2012). She is a visiting scholar in Northeastern University's School of Public Policy and Urban Affairs and a fellow with the Massachusetts Institute for a New Commonwealth's Gateway Cities Institute, and earned her Ph.D. in history from the University of Rochester.

Sponsored by the University of Rochester Environmental Sustainability Cluster for Interdisciplinary Studies (UCIS)

For more information, contact karen.berger@rochester.edu

