The Department of Chemical Engineering is launching a new 6-credit summer course (June/July 2015) at the University of York.

CHE 392: Energy, Sustainability & Society

The course will provide an overview of the properties, uses, economic and political factors, and environmental implications of nonrenewable and renewable energy sources. Some topics include: basic fundamental of energy and heat flow, coal, oil and natural gas, hydrofracking, renewable energy technologies, energy policy/politics, smart grids, environmental justice and much more!

SUITABLE FOR A STUDENT PURSUING A DEGREE IN ENGINEERING, SCIENCE OR POLITICAL SCIENCE!

Please contact Jennifer Condit for more information!

jennifer.condit@rochester.edu
206 Gavett Hall