

The University of Rochester

The University of Rochester is a picturesque suburban campus located just outside the city of Rochester, NY. With an enrollment of about 5,700, the U of R is regarded as one of the top research universities in the United States. We offer the student/athlete a one of a kind education where you the student choose your classes; the institution doesn't choose for you. This allows you to take classes that interest you and not bore you. What we have found is that many of our student/athletes are graduating, in four years, with double majors, a major and a double minor, or a major-minor and a certificate in a specific area. Our student/athletes become much more marketable with this new curriculum than that of traditional curriculums. In today's economy, the more marketable you are, the more options you will have out of college.

The Rochester baseball program is one that has a long and rich tradition of success. We are affiliated with the Liberty League Conference, which does have an automatic qualifying bid to the NCAA Division III Tournament. Over the years, our program has been one that has attracted national attention from both the media and from talented student/athletes like you.

Our baseball field, Towers Field, has undergone a complete $2.5 Million renovation. A artificial surface and light, makes Towers field one of the top facilities in the northeast. The indoor facilities are spectacular. Our field house gives our players an advantage that many programs do not have. We have an astro-turf infield along with batting cages inside that are available to our players at any time. All of these put together equal a university and program that many student/athletes want to be a part of.
