

The figure below illustrates how the coursework in this program relates to and cuts across different layers of major AR/VR research thrusts at the University of Rochester. This integration provides the trainees with a cross-layer AR/VR design perspective.

