

ABOUT

The David T. Kearns Center

WHAT WE OFFER

STUDENT SERVICES

- Academic and career planning assistance
- Workshops on financial literacy
- Interaction with faculty, preparation for research, and graduate school application assistance
- Supplemental support for textbooks (average savings of $115 per student)
- Social engagement events
- Computer lab and printing for students

Research poster conferences and presentations

Graduation ceremony

HOW TO BECOME A

KEARNS SCHOLAR

- Complete intake form available on our website
- Participate in group interview
- Enroll in CAS 145: Navigating the Academy

CAS 145: NAVIGATING THE ACADEMY

This seminar style course explores the shared individual and group narratives of Kearns Scholars, primarily focusing on the first year of college. The course will function as a way for students to identify resources and critical issues that impact their experience in higher education. Through readings, videos, guest speakers, small and large group discussions, and more students will increase their development and understanding of how to navigate the undergraduate experience.

Contact Us

Stephon Hamell, Assistant Director
stephon.hamell@rochester.edu

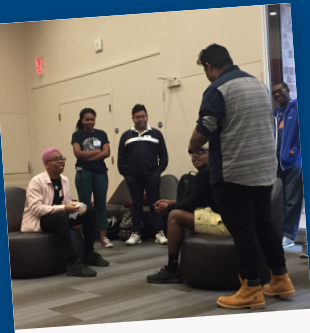

Melissa Raucci, Academic Advisor
melissa.raucci@rochester.edu

Phil Corvino, Academic Advisor
philip.corvino@rochester.edu

Kim Hunter, Academic Advisor
kim.hunter@rochester.edu

Events to network with other students, staff, and faculty

Kearns Scholar group interview

Undergraduate research experience

David T. Kearns Center for Leadership and Diversity in Arts, Science and Engineering

University of Rochester

Dewey Hall Suite 4-160; PO Box 270415

Rochester, NY 14627-0415

(585) 273-4075 (voice)/(585) 442-5992 (fax)

rochester.edu/kearns

@kearnscenter