University Honors

Jeannine Shao Collins ’86

Honorary Doctor of Letters

Commencement Speaker

Jeannine Shao Collins is chief client officer at advertising and media company Kargo, where she leads global client strategy, partnerships, and brand success across Kargo’s premium digital media platform. Recognized with some of the advertising industry’s highest honors, she also founded Girl Starter, a media and technology company dedicated to empowering young women entrepreneurs through storytelling, experiential education, and access to opportunity. Shao Collins earned a bachelor’s degree in economics from URochester.

Hany S. Farid ’88

Honorary Doctor of Science

One of the nation’s leading researchers in the field of digital forensics, Hany Farid has developed widely used technology to identify online materials that have been manipulated in misleading and exploitative ways. Currently a professor at the University of California, Berkeley, Farid announced this year that he will be returning to Dartmouth College, where he began his groundbreaking research. He earned his undergraduate degree in applied mathematics from URochester followed by graduate degrees from the State University of New York at Albany, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Judith R. Faulkner

Honorary Doctor of Science

Judy Faulkner is CEO and founder of privately held medical-record software provider Epic, based in Verona, Wisconsin. In 2013, Forbes has described Faulkner as “the most powerful woman in healthcare” and in 2025, she was named among Forbes “World’s Most Powerful Women.” Faulkner and her family have established the Roots & Wings Foundation to provide support to low-income children and families at pivotal times. She received a master’s degree in computer science from the University of Wisconsin and a bachelor’s degree in mathematics from Dickinson College.

Elaine Martone

Honorary Doctor of Musical Arts

Elaine Martone is a seven-time Grammy Award–winning music producer and music company executive. Over the course of her 50-year career, she has worked with some of the world’s most acclaimed musical artists in classical and jazz music, including musicians connected to the Eastman School of Music. Martone is widely recognized by industry leaders, colleagues, and musicians for her commitment to artistic excellence, creativity, and administrative leadership. She is a governor for the Chicago Chapter Board of the Recording Academy.

Robert B. Goergen ’60

George Eastman Medal

Robert Goergen is one of the nation’s most highly regarded business executives, entrepreneurs, and educational philanthropists. The first in his family to attend college, he graduated from URochester in 1960 with a bachelor’s degree in physics. As a student, he was a leader in campus life, beginning a spirit of engagement that continued over the next six decades. After joining the University’s Board of Trustees in 1982, he served as chair from 1990 to 2003. He and his wife, Pamela, are among URochester’s most generous benefactors, providing lead support for athletics facilities, biomedical engineering and optics, and data science, as well as support for cancer research, undergraduate teaching, and other initiatives.

John Rowe ’70M (MD), ’02M (Honorary)

Charles Force and Marjorie Smith Hutchison Medal

John Rowe is the Julius B. Richmond Professor of Health Policy and Aging at Columbia University’s Mailman School of Public Health. A recognized expert on geriatrics and human longevity, he has made groundbreaking contributions to the science of healthy aging and has held national leadership roles in medical education, health policy, and the business of health care. A former chair and CEO of Aetna Inc., one of the nation’s largest health insurers, he also served as president and CEO of Mount Sinai NYU Health and other executive roles in medical education and clinical care. He received a medical degree in 1970 from URochester

Gulsinam Akhmadzhanova ’26

Undergraduate Speaker

As a member of the Class of 2026, Gulsinam Akhmadzhanova is a candidate for a double major in mathematics and psychology. A first-generation student, she is president of the Class Council for this year’s undergraduates in the School of Arts and Sciences and the Hajim School of Engineering and Applied Sciences. She previously served as vice president and business manager for the council, and has held roles with the Student Activities Board, Medallion Leadership Society, and Student Alumni Ambassadors. She has also worked as a teaching assistant and conducted research with Akm Rahman, associate professor of imaging sciences at URochester..

Onesmo Mushi ’26W (PhD)

Graduate Speaker

Onesmo Mushi is a candidate for a PhD from the Department of Teaching, Curriculum and Change in the Warner Graduate School of Education and Human Development. His dissertation focuses on international research collaborations and the ways in which scientific knowledge is published and shared between scholars in the United States and African countries. He has served as an instructor at Monroe Community College as well as in the University's Writing, Speaking, and Argument Program, in the Warner School, and in the University's Learning Center.

Daniel Diermeier ’93 (MA), ’95 (PhD)

Rochester Distinguished Scholar Award

Vanderbilt University Chancellor Daniel Diermeier is an internationally recognized political scientist, management scholar, and higher education leader. As a political scientist, he has made important contributions to the formal theory of legislative institutions and coalition government, behavioral models of politics, and private politics and nonmarket strategy in a corporate context. As an educational leader, Diermeier has proven to be a bold innovator, leader, researcher, and teacher with an entrepreneurial mindset. A first-generation college graduate, Diermeier earned a master's degree and a PhD in political science from URochester.

Alan Chow

Edward Peck Curtis Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching

Alan Chow is a professor of piano in the Eastman School of Music, where he also chairs the piano department. An award-winning pianist and a recognized Steinway Artist, Chow has performed in major concert halls and with orchestras around the world and has presented master classes at conservatories, universities, and summer festivals throughout North America and Asia. He joined the Eastman faculty in 2017.

Sheth Nyibule ’16 (PhD)

G. Graydon Curtis ’58 and Jane W. Curtis Award for Nontenured Faculty Teaching

Sheth Nyibule is an associate professor (instructional) of physics in the School of Arts and Sciences, where he teaches courses on modern physics for prospective physics majors and engineering students. As a researcher, Nyibule focuses on experimental nuclear physics and mechanisms for exploring atomic nuclei. After receiving a PhD from URochester in 2016, he served as a postdoctoral research fellow.

Arie Bodek

Lifetime Achievement in Graduate Education Award

Arie Bodek is the George E. Pake Professor of Physics in the School of Arts and Sciences. Over the past five decades, he has made critical contributions to the field of experimental physics, advised more than 30 PhD students, and served as a departmental leader. Beginning with his doctoral thesis in 1972, which provided some of the earliest experimental evidence for the existence of quarks, Bodek has had a long and distinguished career in particle physics. Throughout his career, he has been active in physics education, science outreach activities, and efforts to increase interest in science and engineering graduate studies.

Todd D. Krauss

William H. Riker University Award for Excellence in Graduate Teaching

A faculty member in the Department of Chemistry since 2000, Todd Krauss is the Jay Last Professor in the School of Arts and Sciences. An active researcher, Krauss focuses on the electronic and optical properties of nanomaterials and is considered one of the world’s top researchers in the field of nanocrystals. He has advised 35 students who have been awarded their PhDs, including students in chemistry and candidates in materials science, optics, and biochemistry and biophysics. Krauss holds a joint appointment in the University’s Institute of Optics.
