RETIREMENT ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible to receive Retiree Benefits under this policy you must satisfy the following requirements:

On January 1, 1996 you were:
1. a regular full-time or part-time member of the faculty or staff; and age 55 or over; and you had 10 or more years of cumulative service; and
2. You did not retire on or before June 30, 1996.

On July 1, 1996 you were:

2. You did not retire on or before June 30, 1996; and

If you do not satisfy the above requirements, your benefits will be determined under the Retiree Benefit plan for those hired or rehired on 1/1/96 or thereafter.

Employees should consult with the Office of Total Rewards prior to changing status to time-as-reported to discuss the implications and the need to retire prior to working time-as-reported.

University of Rochester retirees who return to employment later on at the University should consult with the Office of Total Rewards to discuss the impact of the return to work on their retiree benefits.

Please note that the IRS prohibits the Termination of employment by an individual with the intent to be Rehired in order to access funds in the Retirement Program of the University or members of its Controlled Group. (As of January 1, 2016, members of the controlled group of the University of Rochester include: Highland Hospital, Highlands at Brighton, Highlands at Pittsford, Highlands Living Center, UR Medicine Home Care (VNS), Visiting Nurse Signature Care, High Tech Rochester, Nicholas H. Noyes Memorial Hospital, and Jones Memorial Hospital.) All University of Rochester Retirees who return to work at the University will need to be reviewed by the Total Rewards Division of the Office of Human Resources prior to reemployment.

MEDICARE-ELIGIBLE (OVER AGE 65)

We provide a University-sponsored Medicare Marketplace through Via Benefits for retirees over age 65. If you’re not Medicare eligible, reference our Health Care Rates web page for more information.

Via Benefits offers a greater number of personalized health plans from multiple insurance companies in the geographic areas of our retirees.

This approach comes with several advantages, including:

- Expert advice from licensed Medicare specialists year-round
- A Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA) fund
- More individualized coverage
  - Retirees will have many choices in plans, carriers, and price points. Plans can be individualized to suit retiree needs best.
  - Retirees will be able to select Original Medicare Parts A & B and additional coverage which includes Medicare Advantage (Part C), Medicare Supplement (Medigap), and Prescription Drug (Part D).
  - There are many carriers to choose from as well. Some of these include AARP, United HealthCare, Aetna, Excellus BlueCross BlueShield, MVP, Humana, Express Scripts, Silver Script, and Well Care.

Health Reimbursement Arrangement Fund

The University of Rochester’s retiree health plan includes a Health Reimbursement Arrangement (HRA), which is a tax-favored fund, that will reimburse Medicare eligible participants for Medicare medical, prescription drug, dental and vision qualified premiums, up to an annual maximum amount.

A retiree and his or her spouse who are both Medicare eligible participants will be eligible for an annual maximum HRA reimbursement amount that can be used to reimburse eligible medical premiums incurred by either participant.

If an enrolled Medicare eligible participant has not incurred sufficient qualified plan premium expenses, or has not been reimbursed up to the annual maximum reimbursement amount for the Plan Year, the remaining HRA balance will be carried forward to the following Plan Year.

HRA Eligibility

The HRA is a retiree only plan, designed to offer premium relief for Medicare eligible retirees. Because the plan is retiree only, IRS regulations do not allow those retirees that are working to receive contributions. A retiree who begins a time-as-reported (TAR) position with the University will have their HRA contribution paused. Once the TAR assignment ends, access to the HRA restarts and the retiree and their spouse will receive the prorated HRA subsidy.

HRA Eligible Expenses

HRA-qualified health care expenses that are eligible for reimbursement:

- Medical plan premiums
- Prescription Drug plan premiums
- Dental plan premiums
- Vision plan premiums

HRA-qualified health care expenses that are not eligible for reimbursement:

- Medicare Part A/B premiums
- Long Term Care premiums
- Hearing premiums
- Out-of-pocket expenses

If you already retired and your or spouse becomes Medicare eligible, you must enroll in Medicare Parts A and B. You have the option to enroll through Via Benefits in Medicare eligible plans. Once you become Medicare eligible, you will no longer be enrolled in the University of Rochester non-Medicare eligible plans (YOUR PPO Plan or YOUR HSA-Eligible Plan).
DENTAL PLANS

You will continue to be eligible for coverage under the University Dental Plans following Retirement.

- Traditional Dental Plan
- Medallion Dental Plan

You will have the option to select either single or family coverage. Your third-party administrator will be Excellus.

Costs are based on retiree levels. The University dental plans are billed on a quarterly basis and payable to the Lifetime Benefit Solutions.

Coverage under the University's Dental Plans for widows and widowers of Retired Regular faculty and staff members is canceled upon the death of the Retiree. However, surviving spouses may elect continuation coverage for up to three years under COBRA (Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985). Generally, COBRA continuation coverage must be elected within 60 days of losing coverage and surviving spouses pay 102% of the total premium.

Members of SEIU are not eligible for retiree dental benefits.

FLEXIBLE SPENDING ACCOUNTS (FSA)

Your FSA participation stops on the date of your retirement. When coverage stops, you will be sent a separate document that explains your rights under COBRA continuation coverage for the Health Care FSA.

- Health Care FSA: You will have 90 days from the date of your retirement to submit eligible expenses incurred prior to the FSA cancellation date.
- Dependent Care FSA: You will have until the end of the plan year to submit eligible expenses incurred during the plan year. The amount available for reimbursement is limited to the amount credited to your Dependent Care FSA, less any prior reimbursements.

HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNT (HSA)

HSA contributions via payroll deduction stop when you retire. However, your HSA is solely owned by you and will continue with you even after you retire. This means that you can continue to make contributions to your HSA as long as you are enrolled in HSA-eligible coverage and you will continue to have access to the funds in your HSA. Your HSA will move from the University group to an individual account within the bank, so please contact HSA Bank for details.

LIFE INSURANCE

Group Universal Life (GUL) Insurance

Several times a month we send eligibility information to our vendor, Securian Financial. Once they are made aware that you have retired, they will bill you directly for this policy. If you want to cancel the coverage, you can do so by completing a Life Insurance Change Request Form available online at www.rochester.edu/totalrewards/life.

If you retire and continue to have a benefits eligible position at the University (FT/PT), you will need to decide if you want your GUL policy to be based on your pre-retirement salary or your current FT/PT salary:

- GUL policy based on your pre-retirement salary: You will no longer be able to pay your premiums via payroll deduction. Securian will bill you directly for the premium.
- GUL policy based on your current salary: You will be able to resume paying your premiums based on your current FT/PT salary via payroll deduction.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS
Your Social Security retirement benefits are, of course, completely separate from any income you receive as a result of your participation in the University of Rochester Retirement Program.
Social Security retirement benefits are based on your earnings during your working years and continue for your lifetime. You may begin receiving benefits as early as age 62. Beginning with persons born in 1938, the full retirement age gradually increases from age 65, eventually reaching age 67 for persons born in 1960 and later.
Your husband or wife can also receive a Social Security spouse's benefit based on your earnings. A reduced spouse's benefit can be paid as early as age 62. Of course, your spouse may be entitled to a Social Security benefit based on his or her own earnings, which is paid instead of the spouse's benefit if it is larger.
To begin receiving Social Security retirement benefits, contact your local Social Security Office. The Rochester Social Security Office is located at 200 East Main Street, Second Floor; Rochester, New York 14604; the Greece Social Security Office is located at 4050 Ridge Road West, Rochester, New York 14626. The Social Security Administration has also established a toll-free number for general services and information with representatives available from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. (800-772-1213). Information is also available at www.socialsecurity.gov.
RETIREMENT PROGRAM 403(B) BENEFITS

One source of income for you during retirement derives from investments in the University of Rochester Retirement Program.

When you withdraw your retirement accumulations, you may choose from among several methods of payment. You may request more detailed information about the various payment options from the recordkeeper TIAA directly. In addition, at any time, you may request TIAA to provide you with illustrations of your retirement income under its various payment options. You also may elect to transfer or rollover your investments to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), another 403(b) plan, 401(k) plan, or other qualified retirement plan in which you participate.

Since the pre-tax portion of the money in the Retirement Program has not been taxed, it will generally be subject to ordinary income tax when it is paid out to you. In other words, you will pay taxes on the University’s direct contribution, your own pre-tax voluntary contributions, and the earnings on both.

Generally, Roth after-tax 403(b) contributions are not subject to income tax since you already paid taxes on the contributions. You also will not pay income tax on any earnings on your Roth after-tax contributions as long as you’re at least age 59½ (die or become disabled) and your withdrawal is made at least five years after making your first Roth after-tax contribution. The five-year period begins on the first day of the year in which you make your first contribution to your Roth after-tax account.

Federal law generally requires 20% income tax withholding from retirement distributions paid to you in a lump sum or in installments over less than a 10-year period from pre-tax voluntary contributions, the University’s direct contributions and non-qualifying Roth after-tax voluntary contributions – unless the money is rolled over directly to an IRA or another employer’s qualified plan. Withholding is permitted but not required from retirement benefits paid to you as a hardship distribution, as lifetime income, as a series of substantially equal payments over a period of 10 or more years, or as required minimum distribution, but the benefits will be subject to taxation.

Minimum Distribution - Federal law requires that a participant in a tax-favored retirement program like the University of Rochester’s, start receiving benefits or making withdrawals by April 1 following the year they reach age 70½ (if you were born before July 1, 1949) or 72 (if you were born after June 30, 1949) or sever from employment from the University and members of its controlled group, whichever comes later. If the “minimum distribution” requirement is not met, the participant is subject to a non-deductible tax penalty equal to 50% of the amount that should have been distributed. Minimum distribution options through TIAA will pay participants who are subject to this requirement the minimum amount of income the IRS requires each year from accounts held by them without converting their accumulations into a lifetime annuity.

It is recommended that when you take a distribution from any investment fund you consult a tax advisor. The tax implications of the various methods of payment are complex. Someone familiar with your personal situation and the applicable tax laws would be in the best position to assist you in making decisions about choosing your payment options.

When you wish to receive benefits from the Retirement Program, contact the recordkeeper TIAA directly regarding your available options and to receive the distribution forms that you will need to complete to begin payments from these accounts. Please note that for purposes of the Retirement Program, a severance from employment occurs only when a participant ceases to be employed by the University of Rochester and all members of its Controlled Group. Therefore, if you are currently employed by, or become employed by a member of the Controlled Group, you may not withdraw or rollover your University of Rochester Retirement Program accumulation. Participants should keep TIAA advised of their current address.

The University reserves the right to modify, amend, or terminate the plans at any time, including actions that may affect coverage, cost-sharing, or covered benefits, as well as benefits that are provided to current and future Retirees.
