Background

An interim rule, effective immediately, was implemented by the U.S. Government on June 2, 2023. The interim rule is titled “Federal Acquisition Regulation: Prohibition on a ByteDance Covered Application.”

A “covered application” under this FAR clause “...means the social networking service TikTok or any successor application or service developed or provided by ByteDance Limited or an entity owned by ByteDance Limited.”

The interim rule notes that this prohibition on having or using a covered application on information technology, including certain equipment used by Federal contractors, is a national security measure to protect U.S. Government information and information and communication technology systems.

Frequently Asked Questions:

1. Does this prohibition apply to employee-owned devices that are used in performance of a federal contract?

Yes, the prohibition on covered applications on any information technology used or provided by the University under a contract includes equipment owned by University employees used in the performance of the contract.

2. If I have a personal device that has a covered application on it, may I continue to use it?

A personally owned device (such as a computer or cell phone) that is not used in the performance of the contract is not subject to the prohibition.

3. What should I do if I have a personally owned device with a covered application (such as TikTok) on it, and I use or intend to use such device in connection with a federal contract subject to this prohibition?

You are required to remove the covered application from your personal device if you will use or intend to use the device in connection with performing under a contract. Use of the device for performance under a federal contract includes (i) the direct performance of work required under the contract (such as research activity), or (ii) performing other work in support of the federal contract, such as accessing or sending email, messaging (including on Microsoft Teams, Slack or a similar service), voice calling, or text messaging.

4. How do I remove the TikTok application from my personally owned device?

Instructions on how to remove the TikTok application from devices can be found here: <https://tech.rochester.edu/news-item/tiktok-ban-for-any-federally-impacting-research/>.

5. Does this prohibition also apply to my federal grant(s)?

As stated above, the prohibition does not apply to federal grants at this time.

6. How do I know if my federal award is a contract or grant?

The majority of federal awards to the University are grants (i.e., assistance awards). Federal contracts and subcontracts are considered procurement awards and are governed by fairly onerous requirements and numerous FAR clauses. If you are unsure whether your federal award is a contract or a grant, contact your ORPA Research Administrator.

The University may update this Compliance Notice as additional guidance regarding the interim rule is issued.
