ARTS, SCIENCES & ENGINEERING

1942 Don Hodgman died in February, his son, Bob, writes. Don had been living in Evanston, Illinois, with his wife of almost 70 years, Naomi. Originally from Buffalo, Don served in the Army during World War II and earned a doctorate in economics from Harvard upon his return. He taught at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign for 29 years. He and Naomi had four children, five grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren. Among Don's many hobbies were tennis, swimming, birding, piano, family genealogy, and using his MacBook and iPad. He also spoke three other languages: Russian, French, and Italian.

1948 Raymond Murphy '50 (MA), professor emeritus of sociology at Rochester, died in January, his son, James, writes. Raymond studied geology as an undergraduate, and stayed at Rochester to earn a master of arts degree in sociology before going on to earn a doctorate in sociology from Northwestern. He had two children—

James, and his sister, Katherine.

1956 Donald Messina '57 (MA) writes: "I've just completed my 11th year of conducting classical concerts with the St. Andrew's Chamber Orchestra with a novel musical undertaking. It was the creation of an all-French classical concert with special narrations." Donald adds that the orchestra, affiliated with St. Andrew's Catholic Church in Rochester, recorded the concert on CD. "It uniquely blends the well-known romantic music of Bizet, Ravel, Massenet, Berlioz, Saint Saens, and others into a dramatic 19th-century love story, narrated before each work, set in Paris, Venice, Madrid, Tangiers, and Marsailles." Donald welcomes inquiries from classmates at d Messina@localnet.com.

1962 James '64 (MS) and Anne-Marie Rogozinski Taylor '63W (MA) send an update. James was named professor emeritus of electrical and computer engineering at the University of New Brunswick. "Jim has been at UNB since 1994," Anne-Marie writes, "and we have happily lived here since then in Fredericton, the capital of the province of New Brunswick in eastern Canada." Anne-Marie won a national award for her work in special education from the Canadian Association for Community Living. The award recognized Anne-Marie's "commitment and dedication to the inclusion of all students."

1965 Tim Butts, who is part of the 50th Reunion Planning Committee, writes: "Class of 1965! There is still plenty of time to plan to attend our 50th reunion, to be held October 8 to 11, 2015. This is a big one for us, and there will be plenty going on. See your friends, see how the campus has changed, and be part of the thrill that the U of R is leading, and experiencing, in the greater city. Lots of us are returning." So far, among them are: Richard Alrutz, Barbara Baer, Helen Powell Ballanca, Dennis Bowlder, Eugene Bruce, Tim, William Champney, Peter Cumbo, Richard English, Marcia Wick Fishbach, Richard Fishbach, William Frykberg, Gwen Meltzer Greene, Marsha Levinson Harris, Gilbert Henner, Linda Lewis Jaslow, Richard Joffe, Thomas Lehner, Melanie Lenard, Georgia

1990 Phil Scaffidi has been promoted to special counsel at the Buffalo, New York, law firm Lipsitz Green Scime Cambria.

1993 Abe Dewing was selected to perform with the Boston Symphony Orchestra's Onstage at Symphony outreach program last January. He writes: "The program was created to provide an inside look of what it's like to be a professional musician. It was so exciting to be chosen and to be able to share this experience with so many of my amateur musician friends who have donated countless hours providing music to our communities. Even though the University provides our planet with world-class musicians, it provides a great music experience for all levels so we could continue even if we chose a different career path. And that allowed me to never stop dreaming about playing at Symphony Hall." Abe, a digital executive at Boston Herald Media and a violinist in the all-volunteer Cambridge Symphony Orchestra, includes a photo of himself rehearsing onstage in U of R garb.

1994 Dennis Tucker received a commendation from Georgia Gov. Nathan Deal for his work promoting Georgia state history. The publisher at Whitman Publishing in Atlanta, Tucker specializes in books on money, banking, and financial history, the American presidency, and other non-fiction subjects. In his commendation letter, Deal wrote: "Your diligent work has publicized and promoted knowledge of our state's status as the location of the nation's first gold rush and the history of the Dahlonega Mint, which produced gold coins from 1838 to 1861."

1995 Kristen Herlihy writes that she and her husband, Matthew Flint, welcomed their second child, Evelyn

Mary, last July. Evelyn joined her big brother, Connor, 3. . . . Jeannie Hassouna Uyanik writes: "Class of 1995: Help us set a reunion-year record the weekend of October 8-11, 2015! To set the new record, we need 115 members of the Class of 1995 to attend our 20th reunion during Meliora Weekend. We know that we can blow this record out of the water. And more importantly, we want to see you and catch up. So start making your travel plans now." Jeannie adds that she's helped set up a Class of 1995 University of Rochester Facebook group and a 1995 University reunion page at www.rochester.edu/college/alumni/reunion/classes/1995.

CHANCE ENCOUNTERS

A Story of Music that Struck a Chord

Last year, Ann Field Bell '48E and Dorothy Merriam Happel '48E came across the story "No Retirement from Music" (Rochester Review, May-June 2014). The story, shared by Alice Pillischer Kujala '48E, told of her reunion with John Fuyume '48E, '50E (MM) and Horace (Hap) Apgar '49E at the Shannondell retirement community in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. It prompted Ann and Dorothy to get together to share their own, similar story. Dorothy writes:

"By happenstance, Ann Field Bell and I met at the Deerfield Episcopal Retirement Community in Asheville, North Carolina. Ann and her husband, Mason, moved to Deerfield in 2002. I moved from New York to Deerfield in 2012. My husband, John, died in 2001. Ann and I had not seen each other since graduating from Eastman.

"Ann was a piano major. After graduation, she worked at the Carl Fisher Music Publishing Company in New York. She then taught piano and music appreciation at Greenbrier College for Women in Lewisburg, West Virginia. Ann and Mason were married in July 1951 and have lived in 10 states, all east of the Mississippi River. Wherever they lived, Ann volunteered with the local symphony orchestra. In Greenville, South Carolina, she volunteered with the Guild of the Greenville Symphony, a fundraising source for the orchestra. In Atlanta, she volunteered in the office of conductor Robert Shaw's executive secretary, Nola Frink. She has enjoyed living these past 12 years in Asheville with its wonderful climate and artistic ambiance.

"I graduated from Eastman as a student of violinist Jacques Gordon and continued my study with Louis Persinger at Juilliard. In 1948, I was the winner of the Naftzger Award, administered by the Wichita Symphony Orchestra, given to the most outstanding young artist of Kansas. In New York, I won appearances through the Concert Artists Guild and the American Artists Series at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, and gave the first performance of a plastic violin in recital at Weill Hall.

"For 25 years, I was concertmaster of the Greenwich Symphony with David Gilbert '57E, '58E (MM), conductor, and with the Greenwich Symphony Chamber Players. I've been a soloist with more than a dozen symphony orchestras. Since leaving Eastman, I've had rewarding musical collaborations with more than 25 Eastman friends.

"Ann and I agree we're very fortunate to be Eastman alumni." R of bassoon and music theory at Michigan State University, died in January, his son, Lee, writes. Lee adds that Edgar played with the Richards Quintet, the woodwind ensemble-in-residence at the university. "Throughout its 25 years, the quintet included four Eastman grads: my dad, Elsa Luewig-Verdehr '58 (MM), '64 (DMA) on clarinet, Dan Stolper '57, '58 (MM) on oboe, and Douglas Campbell '46 (MA), '57 (PhD) on horn. Alas, the group was never able to land an Eastman flute player."

1946 Douglas Campbell (MA), '57 (PhD) (see '45).

1948 Ann Field Bell and Dorothy (Dottie) Merriam Happel write that, after not having seen one another since their Eastman graduation, they've reunited at the Deerfield Episcopal Retirement Community (see sidebar, above). . . . Edgar Kirk '59 (PhD) (see '45).

1957 Douglas Campbell (PhD) (see '45). . . . David Gilbert '58 (MM)

(see sidebar, above). . . . Dan Stolper '58 (MM) (see '45).

1958 David Gilbert (MM) (see sidebar, above). . . . Elsa Luewig-Verdehr (MM), '64 (DMA) (see '45). . . . Dan Stolper (MM) (see '45).

1959 Edgar Kirk (PhD) (see '45).

1964 Elsa Luewig-Verdehr (DMA) (see '45).

1966 Joyce Malicky Castle (MM), University Distinguished Professor of Voice at the University of Kansas, has a new recording, The Hawthorn Tree (Americus Records). The music was composed by William Bolcom in honor of Joyce's 40th anniversary as a performing artist. . . . Chuck Daellenbach '71 (PhD), cofounder of the Canadian Brass, has received the Canadian government's highest civilian honor, Member of the Order of Canada.

1968 Bill Cahn writes that Nexus, which also includes Bob Becker '69, has been performing with Persian classical vocalist Sepideh Raissadat. They performed together at the 2014 Open Ears Festival of Music and Sound last June and at the University of Toronto's 2014 Concert Series last October. In March, Nexus and Raissadat recorded a video program of five classical Persian songs. The video will be broadcast over Voice of America.

1969 Bob Becker (see '68).

1970 Geary Larrick (MM) writes that he performed a program of music by George Gershwin in January on marimba in Stevens Point, Wisconsin. In February, he performed a program of music by African-American composers. He also reviewed the biography Beethoven: Anguish and Triumph (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt) by composer and author Jan Swafford in the winter 2014-15 issue of the National Association of College Wind and Percussion Instructors Journal.

1971 Chuck Daellenbach (PhD) (see '66).

1979 Pianist Richard Steinbach (MM), professor of music at Briar Cliff University, will perform his solo debut at Carnegie Hall in June. He'll premiere his latest recording, Fusion: New Music for a New Age (Self-published).

1980 Dave Ratajczak (see '85).

1982 Brett Blankenship (MM) has been elected president of the National Association of Wheat Growers. Brett, who studied piano performance and literature at Eastman, has been farming wheat full time since graduation.

1985 Trombonist John Fedchock (MM) writes that he's released Fluidity (Summit Records), his seventh album as a band leader. Drummer Dave Ratajczak '80, who died last October, performed on the recording.

1990 Linda Day writes: "After 22 years in the Austin Symphony, I have retired and moved to Monson, Massachusetts, with my husband, John. Since then, I have finished illustrating a children's musical e-book with original songs, narrated story, and background music on harp, flute, and percussion. Love Your Enemies, Part One: A Musical Story of the Life of Jesus, is the story I wrote for my grandchildren, who sang my songs along with it." Linda has established a website, www.loveyourenemies.com. . . .

Deborah Imiolo, a music teacher at Heritage Heights Elementary School in Amherst, New York, has published a book, We're Gonna Play Today: Child-Centered Repertoire for Barred Percussion (Heritage Music Press). She writes: "It's a collection of original poems and songs for Orff instruments for young children to teach about the Orff instrumentarium and mallet technique." She adds that she was the classroom elementary music headliner presenter at the Texas Music Educators Association conference in February.

1996 Jeremy Gill received a New Music USA project grant along with the Parker Quintet. The grant funded a recording of Jeremy's hour-long string quartet, Capriccio, by the Parker Quintet. The piece was commissioned by Chamber Music America.

1997 Robert Blaine (DMA) has been named dean of undergraduate studies and cyberlearning at Jackson State University.

2001 Mimi Furuya writes that the Furuya Sisters Trio released a DVD/CD, Furuya Sisters Live at Steinway Hall (Self-published), "a live video recording of our concert at Steinway Hall in New York City in November 2014—which marked the very last concert that took place in the historic building."

2006 Kevin Ernste (PhD) (see '08).

2008 Tiffany Ng (MM) will start this fall as assistant professor of music and university carillonneur at the University of Michigan. She's been a visiting instructor of music history at St. Olaf College. Tiffany writes: "My 2014 concerts at the International Carillon Festivals in Barcelona, Spain, and Bok Tower Gardens, Florida, included acoustic and electroacoustic works by Eastman doctoral students Paul Coleman and Matthew Barber '09 (MA), as well as Jung Sun Kang '13 (DMA), Andrew Allen '09 (MA), and Kevin Ernste '06 (PhD).

ALUMNI HONORS

Educator Dedicated to At-Risk School Children Honored

The president of an educational foundation devoted to helping children whose school success is imperiled by poverty was recognized for her support of the University this winter. Elizabeth Puhn Bruno '89, the president of the Brady Education Foundation and a research associate professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, received the John N. Wilder Award at a ceremony hosted by Arts, Sciences & Engineering.

Elizabeth Puhn Bruno

An active Rochester alumna, Bruno has served on the Arts, Sciences & Engineering National Council and was a career services volunteer.

The president of the foundation since 2001, Bruno serves on the editorial board for the Journal of Marriage and Family and Early Childhood Research Quarterly, the Frank Porter Graham Executive Leadership Board, as well as a number of other nonprofit boards. She has published articles on early education environments, family circumstances, and child outcomes.

Since earning her PhD in developmental psychology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Bruno has been a scientist in the university's Frank Porter Graham Child Development Institute, where her research focuses on early care and education environments and school readiness skills of at-risk children.

The mother of a student in the Class of 2018, she is a member of the George Eastman Circle, the University's leadership annual giving society. In 2011, she established a support fund to help students in the University's Early Connection Opportunity program, and a fellowship fund for master's degree students who are alumni of that program. ®

2013 Jung Sun Kang (DMA) (see '08).

2009 Ralph Stroup (MD) writes that he's been working in Kenya, helping to build a primary care infrastructure since 2008 through the nonprofit Kenyan Health Care Initiatives, which he founded with the advice of local Maasai leaders. He sends an update: "Thanks, in part, to donations from some of my classmates, funds have been raised to build a health clinic in Ntalabany, Kenya. Currently, the 1,500-plus villagers in the area have to walk six hours to obtain primary health care." Ralph will continue to raise funds for capital equipment, solar lighting, solar refrigeration, and a drip irrigation green house for food security. He adds: "Our Maasai partners plan to build a nurse's quarters and a preschool. Hope to see all of you in October for our 50th reunion!"

1975 Richard Tuck (Res) has been named chair of the American Academy of Pediatrics District V, including Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Ontario, Canada. Richard is the medical director of Quality Care Partners, a physician-hospital partnership in southeastern Ohio and is a leading expert in medical coding and billing. In 2013, he received the American Academy of Pediatrics and American Medical Association Abraham Jacobi Award in recognition of his role in educating pediatricians in administration and practice management.

1978 Vincent Mosca (MD) (see '73 College).

1979 Eric Topol (MD), director of the Scripps Translational Science Institute and a leader in the use of digital technology in medicine, has published a book, The Patient Will See You Now: The Future of Medicine Is in Your Hands (Basic Books).

1984 Janice Weisman (MD) (see '80 College).

1985 Bob Glowacky (MS) (see '84 College).

2000 Sandra Dayaratna (Res) has been named clinical associate professor and director of the obstetrics and gynecology division at Thomas Jefferson University's Sidney Kimmel Medical College.
