

Digital Conversion in K-12 Schools: A Panel Discussion with National Leaders in Educational Innovation

Thursday, February 15, 3:00 pm to 4:30 pm in LeChase 215

Panel Moderator: Dr. Dave Miller, Warner faculty member/Director of the Digitally-Rich Teaching Program

Digital Conversion is a recent phenomenon in which K-12 schools conceptualize, design, and implement pathways that facilitate, support, and sustain the integration of digital tools, digital content, administrative practice shifts, shifts in teaching methods and practices, and shifts in the focus on the way students engage, interact, learn, and achieve.

In this panel session, we will be joined by panelists who are leaders from across key areas of Digital Conversion, including K-12 Administration, K-12 Teaching, Learning Management, Digital Content, Cultural Transformation, Education Strategy, and Educational Technology.

Our panelists for this session include: Joe Sutorius from East Irondequoit CSD, Troy Olin from Gates-Chili CSD, Kellie Ady from Schoology, Sara Peters and Esperanza Agnew from Discovery Education, Tiffany Wycoff from Learning Innovation Catalyst, Jeremiah Okal-Frink from Dell EMC, and Dave Meyers from Teachers Connect.

If you would like to attend this session via a Webinar, we have 100 seats available for web attendance. Please register using the following link:
