

LiDA Colloquium Series

How Can We Best Share Lessons Learned about LiDA?: A Focus on Using Videos

Thursday, September 20, 3:00-4:30 pm in LeChase 215*

*Please note that we are meeting in a different room (Room 215: Genrich-Rusling room) from this week.

Hello, all.

In this session we will be sharing and discussing a few short video clips that were created to share interesting experiences and insights about Learning in the Digital Age, with the goal of addressing the following questions:

1. What makes a video effective for communicating what we are learning related to LiDA and impact practitioners as well as researchers?
2. What does it take to produce – or find – such videos?
3. How can we best disseminate the videos we have created to impact our target audience(s)?
4. What are possible uses of this type of video?

We will start the session with the following set of complementary short presentations to spark and ground our conversation around these questions – although there will also be time set aside for anyone else interested to share their own experiences and thoughts on the topic:

- Sharing about piloting “Classrooms of the Future” through a video – by Terri Robson and David Yates, East Irondequoit Central School District
- Video interviews about Digital Conversion experiences – by Dave Miller, Warner School of Education
- Using videos as a tool in the preparation of digitally-rich instructors – by Raffaella Borasi and Yu Jung Han, Warner School of Education
- Principles of effective video production – by Kristana Textor, Warner School of Education

Looking forward to seeing you on September 20!

*Image taken from

http://blog.edmentum.com/sites/blog.edmentum.com/files/styles/blog_image/public/images/LessonVideos.png?itok=ac9J-Sar
